The Broadway song team of Rodgers and Hammerstein took a chapter from author James A. Michener's Pulitzer Prize winning novel, "Tales of the South Pacific," and turned it into a heart-warming and entertaining musical.

Set during a lull in the fighting with the Japanese in World War II, "South Pacific" has two love stories. One involves the romance between a middle-aged French planter, Emile de Becque, and an American Navy nurse, Nellie Forbush. The other is the tragedy-doomed love of a young Marine lieutenant, Joe Cable, for a beautiful Tonkinese girl, Liat.
